

This holiday, give history!

Available at the
Georgetown Library
405 Cleland Street

Just $20

Proceeds benefit the Georgetown Friends of the Library

This thoroughly researched book features hundreds of Georgetown County photographs from the bustling years 1890—1915. The photographs are from the Morgan-Trenholm collection: a series of over 500 photographs taken by several professional photographers hired by Mayor William Doyle Morgan, and a second series taken by resident photographer Alfred Glover Trenholm. The outstanding collection shows street scenes, businesses, interiors, celebrations and many public and private buildings still standing today. Each photograph in the book has accompanying descriptions of the times and people seen.