The Georgetown County Library's Small Business Center is a great place to start if you're looking for workshops, computer access, software and advice. Our computers have the latest version of Microsoft Word, Publisher, Powerpoint and Excel, and handy links to helpful websites. Our staff can also help you build a resume or search for jobs.

Workshops

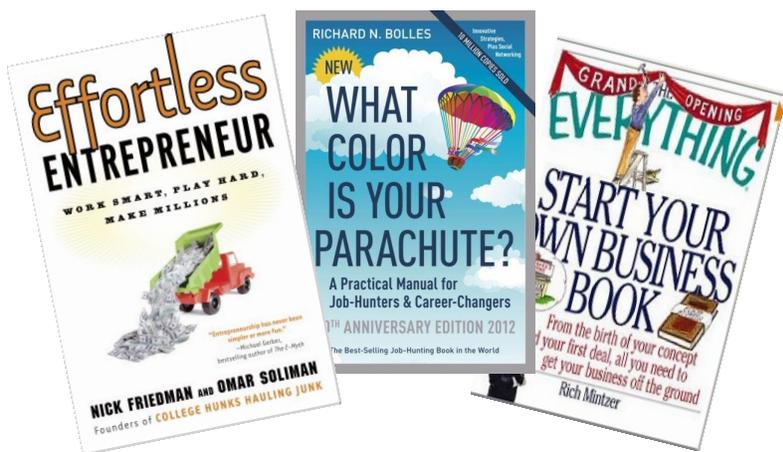

We present classes on everything from spreadsheet management to interview techniques, and they're all FREE! See our home page, under the Small Business Center banner, for upcoming classes:

Books You Can Check Out

Thanks to federal and state grants, the library has a stellar collection of the latest titles on managing your small business and finding the perfect career. The books are shelved under call number 650 and topical selections are also featured on bookshelves in front of our Small Business Center.
