

Waccamaw Library Update!

The books are boxed! We've been culling our current collection and boxing everything in order so it will be easy to reshelv at the new library. Many new books will also be added as we open our doors at 41 St. Paul Place.

We don't want you to miss out on brand new bestsellers or other library services during the move, so please visit our Georgetown Library on Cleland Street. We'll also have our bookmobile in the current Waccamaw library parking lot every Monday from noon—4 p.m.

We're just about done with carpeting and lighting installation at the new library, and shelving is next. We hope to open the new library on:

February 14th
