Fall Festival offers something for everyone – and it's all free!

The Georgetown County Library invites everyone to its Fall Festival of Financial Fitness on Saturday, October 25th from noon-2 p.m. at the Beck Recreation Center on Church Street.

“It’s going to be so much fun for all ages,” enthused library director Dwight McInvaill. “Best of all, absolutely everything is free!”

Among the free offerings are pizza, a jumpy castle, a live band, fire truck rides, face painting, balloons, soda, popcorn and more. The festival is sponsored by a “Smart Investing @ Your Library” grant from the American Library Association and the FINRA Foundation, and the party will also offer great information on protecting your family’s finances.

“We’ll have fair booths manned by financial specialists, who have handouts and giveaways,” said McInvaill. “Whether you’re looking to stretch your dollars, find a new job, repair your credit, or save for the future, our experts have some great, unbiased advice.”

Even the kids have fun money activities, from decorating their own piggy banks to playing finance-related games. Continuing the theme, there will be a gallery featuring the entrants of the library’s “Design Your Own Piggy Bank” contest. There are even brand new “Smart Investing @ Your Library” tote bags being given away at the Festival.

“Gather a few financial fitness tips, and save money at a fantastic free afternoon of festivities,” said McInvaill.
