Lunch Money Workshop

Library combines fantastic financial tips and a free lunch

The Georgetown Library is offering a Lunch Money workshop on retirement planning Thursday, December 4th, at noon. The popular Lunch Money workshops last one hour, and feature entertaining experts, helpful handouts, even a delicious lunch from Kudzu Bakery.

“Come get tips on saving for retirement at any age,” said Public Service Librarian Heather Pelham. “And after the workshop, if you’re looking for more details, we’ve got all the latest books on building your nest egg.”

The workshops are sponsored by a Smart investing@your library® grant provided through a partnership of the FINRA Investor Education Foundation and the American Library Association. The Smart Investing grant has made possible financial festivals, job fairs, workshops, even interviews with local residents who have faced financial obstacles and overcome them.

You do not have to register for this class, but if you have any questions, feel free to call Heather at (843) 545-3327.
