Peter Warren

Peter Warren has lived in Murrells Inlet for the past five years since retiring from the Connecticut State Police Department.

He is a graduate of the University of New Haven, the FBI National Academy, and the Connecticut State Police Academy. While with the Connecticut State Police Department, he commanded specialized units; among them a Major Crime Squad, and he also served as the Commanding Officer of the Bureau of Criminal Investigations.

A longtime Civil War buff, Peter is the author of CONFEDERATE GOLD AND SILVER, and principal author of THE JOURNEY NORTH. Following the release of these two Civil War novels, he released his third book – a murder mystery that takes place from Myrtle Beach to Georgetown. That book, THE HORRY COUNTY MURDERS, has drawn a great deal of favorable attention from area readers and reviews in print. Peter has recently had his fourth novel released. THE PARLIAMENT MEN – Peter's second exciting murder mystery – takes place in North Litchfield and Pawleys Island. This story is loosely based on the worst murder investigation he had a hand in investigating during his career as a state trooper. The Parliament Men recently received several outstanding reviews due to Peter's investigative experiences and from his ability to write a suspenseful story.
